

FOREWORD

This is not an official publication of the Health and Safety Code. It has been produced for use by the public and staff of the Air Resources Board.

The Air Resources Board is responsible for interpreting, implementing, and making specific those statutes pertaining to the control of air pollution. The Air Resources Board regulations are contained in Titles 13 and 17 of the California Code of Regulations. References to applicable regulations have been incorporated in this publication, and follow each statute.

These incorporated references were accurate on the date of publication, and changes may have occurred since then. Thus, the references are provided for convenience only and should not be relied upon.
